TEXT OF MAILGRAM SENT TO MAYOR WASHINGTON ON DECEMBER ~~28~~ 29, 1976

Mayor Walter E. Washington
District Building
14th and E Streets, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20004

In March of 1975, I informally asked your office and the Council to make the necessary changes to permit handicapped persons entrance into the District Building. On January 8, 1976 I introduced the District Building Architectural Accessibility Resolution (R.1-244) directing the construction of a handicapped ramp and automatic doors at the main 13½ Street entrance of the District Building within 6 months after passage of the resolution.

The Council unanimously adopted R.1-244 on April 27, 1976. On September 27, 1976 the Council approved a reprogramming request of $66,000 and Congress gave its final approval to the reprogramming on October 29, 1976.

Now that the funding has been specifically identified, I urge you to begin work on this project without delay. It has been 8 months since the Council adopted R.1-244 authorizing the construction of the ramp and automatic doors.

Citizens with handicapps should not be asked to accept second class citizenship by having to enter via a separate "back door." The Council and the Congress voted funds to remodel the 13½ Street entrance only -- no alternate plan is acceptable. More than 50,000 handicapped District residents have been waiting for nearly two years. When do you plan to begin construction?

Sincerely,

Julius W. Hobson
Councilman at-Large

Mr. Alfred Love
Chairman, Board of Directors
Redevelopment Land Authority
1325 G Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20005

Dear Mr. Love:

I have been contacted by Mr. Tony Jones of the D.C. Parent Child Center, Inc. concerning their desire to procure Parcel 13 on 14th Street between Belmont and Chapin Streets as a site for the development and operation of the Mary McLeod Bethune Parent Child Institute.

Their program has a record of demonstrated effectiveness in the area of pre-school education and child care which I heartily support. It is my hope that the Redevelopment Land Authority can give the D.C. Parent Child Center every consideration in this manner

Thank you for your attention on this manner.

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Dempsey:

Enclosed is a draft copy of the "Practice of Audiology and Speech Pathology Act" which Councilman Hobson plans to reintroduce in January 1977.

As you remember the bill was introduced in April 1976 but the City Council was unable to consider the legislation during the current session which ends this month. Consequently all legislation which has not been acted upon lapses and must be reintroduced when the new legislative session begins in order to be considered by the Council.

We are again asking for your support and would appreciate any additional comments or suggestions which you may have for improving the bill.

I appreciate your pervious help and look forward to hearing from you.

December 3, 1976

Councilman Julius W. Hobson, Sr.
D.C. City Council
5th Floor - District Building
14th & E Streets, N.W.
Washington, D. C. 20004

Dear Councilman Hobson:

We have been apprised of several critical problems surrounding the Anacostia Preschool Program which threatens its very existence. Reimbursements from the FY '76 contract have not been released from the funding agency (the United Planning Organization). The contract for FY '77 has not yet been signed. We have been notified that a total of $38,000 has been cut from our budget ($12,000 had to be absorbed from the FY '77 budget and $26,000 from the FY '78 budget.)

Our Anacostia Preschool Parent Policy Committee has been in constant consultation with what we considered the appropriate authorities to resolve this critical matter. We have received assistance and support from the administrative staff of the Preschool Program and the Superintendent's Office. To date, these efforts have not generated a solution to our problem. At our meeting on December 1, 1976, the many problems were discussed at length. Over two hundred parents mandated by resolution that the Committee call an immediate meeting to ascertain the facts and to assess the situation. It is the overwhelming intent of this body of parents to immediately resolve this crucial problem affecting their children.

We have set up a meeting for Tuesday, December 7, 1976 at 7:00 p.m. in the Congress Heights School Auditorium. You are hereby requested to attend in your official capacity and be prepared to provide the parents of this community with substantive answers to the attached list of questions. We desperately need clarification of those matters in order to resolve the many crucial problems facing the Anacostia Preschool Program.

Respectfully submitted,

Joyce Spicer

Questions/Issues Needing Clarification

(1) What is the organizational relationship and authority of all of the entities which must approve grant funds?

(2) Why does the Department of Human Resources have to give final approval of school system grants?

(3) Why is our grant being decreased when UPO's overall grant for education is being decreased?

(4) Why is money being allocated for new programs at the expense of the Anacostia Preschool Program and other programs?

(5) Why is grant money not received in time to prevent lapses?

(6) Why is it that the request for reimbursement for FY '76 has not been received from UPO?

(7) Under what authority was the $38,000 cut from our budget. ($26,000 from FY '78 and $12,000 from FY'77)?

(8) How can UPO make cuts in the budget without approval of the Parent Policy Council as prescribed in the HEW guidelines?

(9) Under what authority can the head of the Early Childhood Branch of UPO disallow budget line items approved by the local Parent Policy Committee?

(10) Under what authority can the head of the Early Childhood Branch of UPO dissaprove the by-laws of the local Parent Policy Committee which are not in contradiction with national guidelines?

(11) Under what authority has the head of UPO's Day Care Division informed the Parent Policy Committee that they are only advisory bodies and not decision-making bodies.

(12) What is the amount and nature of the discrepancies between D.C. Public School System records of expenditures and the United Planning Organization's records of expenditures for FY 71, 72, 73, 74 and 75?

(13) What is the nature of the discrepancies between the budget planning mark of $537,000 and the projected $524,000 actually projected to be received for FY '76?

(14) Why are funds that were obligated in FY '76 being charged to the FY '77 account?

(15) What actual services do we receive for the 12.5% in indirect costs paid to UPO?

(16) With a mandate of 10% for services for the handicapped children, why can't funds be allocated based on the number of children served since we consistently exceed this number of children served?

(17) Why is it impossible to get information regarding UPO's policies and procedures furnished to the Parent Policy Committee after its request?

(18) What can our Parent Policy Committee do to assess the qualifications of UPO staff with programmatic responsibilities to our preschool program?

(19) What is the nature of the problems surrounding the availability and use of the mini-bus already received and how soon can we expect to be able to use this vehicle?

(20) What process would you suggest to establish and maintain adequate communication between all entities involved in the appropriate and timely delivery of services to the Anacostia Preschool Program?

(21) Why are the 7 positions for aides arbitrarily cut and people subsequently reassigned without options?

(22) Why are 5 teaching positions being arbitrarily cut and reassignments projected?

(23) When will proper authorization for 12 positions be obtained?

(24) How was the determination made as to who should go and who should stay without input from the region?

(Special Note for questions 21, 22 & 23)

These loss of positions will place the funding of the entire program in jeopardy unless these positions are replaced immediately.

Dear Mr. Kelley:

I received your letter of November 17, 1976 indicating that the Civil Service Commission's response to my Freedom of Information-Privacy Acts (FOIPA) requests contained documents that originated with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and that these documents had been referred to the FBI on November 10, 1976 with the request that the Bureau determine their "releasability."

In addition your letter asked that I submit a notarized signature so that the FBI can process and release those documents pretaining to me which the Civil Service Commission referred to the Bureau. I have had the signature of this letter notarized in order to comply with this request.

I would appreciate your efforts in expediting the release of those documents as quickly as possible.

Dear Mrs. Hobson:

This is in reference to your Freedom of Information-Privacy Acts (FOIPA) request to the Civil Service Commission. Contained in their records were documents which originated with the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). These documents were referred to this Bureau on November 10, 1976, with the request that the FBI determine their releasability.

An exceedingly heavy volume of FOIPA requests has been received these past few months. Additionally, court deadlines involving certain historical cases of considerable scope have been imposed upon the FBI. Despite successive expansions of our staff responsible for FOIPA matters, substantial delays in processing requests continue.

Since January 1, 1975, the FBI has received a total of 27,714 FOIPA requests. Of these, our present backlog is 7,978. In an effort to deal fairly with any request requiring the retrieval, processing and duplication of documents, each request is being handled in chronological order based on the date of receipt. Please be assured that your request is being handled as equitably as possible and that all documents which can be released will be made available at the earliest possible date.

Dr. Therman Evans
President
D.C. Board of Education
The Presidential Building
415 12th Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20004

Dear Dr. Evans:

As one successful campaigner carrying the Statehood Party banner, I have been amazed and frustrated by the lack of basic facts the citizens of our city have regarding the political history of Washington and the potential for full self-determination. You may be interested in the enclosed Post editorial and my letter to the Star.

The Public Schools are better suited to examine, analyze, teach and ultimately debate the issues of full citizenship than any other institution in the city. An appraisal of our local political picture, how it has been influenced by past historical events, and what the options are for the future should be an exciting area of study during the next few years.

Many people don't know that a century ago Washington had more freedom from Congressional control than today; that Washington has had a colorful political history since its beginning; and that there was a time that national politics did not overshadow local issues and concerns.

Our young people represent our future and part of that future are the political decisions which must be made during the next few years. Our students can become knowledgeable participants in the political arena; however, their impact will be minimal if they are unaware of options -- the costs and responsibilities of each.

I understand that the Public Schools are already developing curricular materials on the history of the District of Columbia. In fact, Ms. Miner of my staff was invited to a December 7th meeting of the D.C. History Curriculum Project sponsored by the Division of Instructional Services. I strongly encourage the inclusion of historic materials, but with a strong focus on political options for the future -- particularly at the junior and senior high school levels. Students could be given special projects for study and debate, including research on the pros and cons of statehood and the process through which the 50 states have joined the Union.

The Public Schools are the best means we have to reach our younger generation and provide them with an enthusiasm and understanding of "self-determination" -- what it means and what it costs. I hope that the D.C. History Curriculum Project will include a thoughtful and accurate discussion of the political past, present and future of Washington, D.C.

The topic of self-government and statehood must be examined and debated by the young people who can also help to educate their parents in evaluating opportunities for self-determination no one believed possible a decade ago. I have written PTA Presidents (letter enclosed) with some suggestions and ideas. I hope these thoughts and others, will be seriously considered by members of the Board.

Sincerely,

Julius W. Hobson

COUNCIL OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

WASHINGTON, D. C. 20004

December 9, 1976

Dear PTA President:

Within the next few years D.C. citizens will vote on the political rights and practices of generations yet unborn. The arguments on Statehood vs. increased Congressional representation vs. improved status quo are confusing and sometimes overwhelming for adults as well as for students (see Post and Star articles enclosed).

Now is the time for our young people to learn the strengths and limitations of each proposed form of self-determination -- for many major decisions affecting our lives will be made in the immediate future. Therefore, I hope you will encourage your school to include a focus on political options for the future in the proposed D.C. History Curriculum Project. Self-government can be an exciting concept -- and students can evaluate options and also educate their families and other adults. Some suggestions which you might want to consider are:

- In Grammar School students can learn how the 50 states became part of the Union -- what was the process? How did the government structure change and what did it mean to the citizens?

  Students should learn early about the Constitution and what ratification an amendment requires. In the event increased Congressional representation for the District of Columbia is proposed, students should understand this process.

  What is the current structure of the D.C. government? What are the strengths and weaknesses when compared to other State and local governments?

- Junior High and High School students can participate in the same kind of learning program but could also plan and conduct a mock "Constitutional Convention" next Spring, electing their own representatives and submitting the proposed "Constitution" to the total student body for a vote. Both adults and students could learn a great deal through this process -- including whether or not we can really afford Statehood; many critics imply we cannot. Students should be encouraged to evaluate the options.

Some States conduct annual student mock "legislative" sessions. California, for instance, has been conducting such a program for some thirty years under the title Boys & Girls State. Private organizations, in partnership with the Department of Education, sponsor a statewide program for high school juniors. This week long program includes the election of a governor and other elected offices. Legislative sessions are conducted where the delegates debate and vote on their own proposed legislation. There is no reason why D.C. high school students and administrators should not develop a similar program for citizenship training. We would all benefit.

Encouraging D.C. students to participate in the definition and direction of their own future through a study of history and government should be a priority during the next few years. I'm sure your school will have unique ideas for field trips, informal discussions and debate topics. It is essential that we provide an opportunity for students to evaluate political options -- for young people will play an important role in determining our future. If I can be of personal help in this effort, please contact my office.

Police Arrest 94 In Capitol Protest

By Paul N. Valentine and Abbott Combes
Washington Post Staff Writers

Ninety-four persons, many of them well known scholars, artists and entertainers, were arrested in the Capitol yesterday when they refused to leave in both symbolic and physical protest against the Indochina war.

Capitol police began escorting the demonstrators out of a hallway near an entrance to the House floor around 5 p.m. after the House had adjourned for the day and that portion of the Capitol was officially closed. They were charged with unlawful entry.

The arrests came at the end of a carefully orchestrated exercise in antiwar street theater designed to show that prominent, middle-aged artists and professionals — not just college students and street freaks — are now willing to be arrested to dramatize their discontent with the war.

Among those arrested were folksinger Judy Collins, baby doctor Benjamin Spock, MIT professor Noam Chomsky, actor Howard DaSilva, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lifton, Yale psychiatry professor and his writer wife, painter Larry Rivers, antiwar activist Marcus Raskin, actress Barbara Harris, poet Kenneth Koch, fashion photographer Richard Avedon, columnist Judith Dorst, and columnist Gary Wills.

Others arrested include Leslie Dunbar, president of the Field Foundation; David Amram, composer; Felicia Bernstein, actress and wife of conductor Leonard Bernstein; John Steinbeck IV; Dr. George Wald, winner of a Nobel Prize in biochemistry; Joseph Papp, actor-producer; Tina Hobson, wife of Washington activist Julius Hobson; Carl Hess, former speechwriter for Barry Goldwater and Francine Gray, author.

Most of the protesters were being held on $500 bond last night. All 94 are to be arraigned today in Superior Court.

The action marked the second time in eight days that mass arrests for antiwar protests were made in the Capitol. Last Tuesday, 133 persons, organized by Clergy and Laity Concerned About Vietnam, were arrested in the Rotunda when they refused to leave.

Yesterday's protesters, organized by an ad hoc group called Redress, marched 150 strong to the Capitol at 2 p.m. and presented a petition to House Speaker Carl Albert (D-Okla.), asking the House to end the war by immediately cutting off military and economic appropriations to Indochina.

Albert spoke with the group briefly in the crowded corridor near the House floor entrance. He accepted the petition and said it would be referred to an "appropriate committee right away."

The group then waited in the corridor until 5 p.m., when Capitol Police Chief James M. Powell ordered them to leave. Ninety-four decided to remain. The others left then or had left earlier.

The group first assembled on the Capitol grounds at 1 p.m. and read its petition at a press conference.

"We petition the Congress to exercise its constitional authority of control over the armed forces by voting an immediate cessation of all air, ground and naval operations in Indochina," it said.

The group, led by Miss Collins and Lifton carrying a giant scroll with the petition inscribed on it, then marched slowly and silently to the east steps of the House where they were greeted by eight members of Congress.

"Your presence here today is an act of courage," said Rep. Donald W. Riegle (R-Mich.). "I applaud you, I join you," shouted Rep. Ronald V. Dellums (D-Calif.).

The group then filed into the Capitol building to an entrance hall to the House floor. Albert, who had agreed by prearrangement to meet the group, came into the hall.

Wash. Post
25 May '72

"Thank you very much. It's nice to see you" he told the group. When he said the petition would be sent to committee, Lifton asked that the House meet in emergency session immediately instead. Albert said only that the petition would reach committee "right away." He then returned to the House floor.

Twice during the afternoon, Rep. Bella Abzug (D-N.Y.) asked the House to recess for 15 minutes so that a member of the protest group could enter the floor and read the petition. She was overruled by Albert.

When the arrests began at 5 p.m., Rep. Wayne L. Hays (D-Ohio), chairman of the House Administration Committee, looked at the protesters standing and sitting in the crowded hallway and said to Chief Powell: "The House is adjourned and I want them all the hell out of here . . . I think you ought to get these . . . . . people out of here."

Powell continued directing the one-by-one arrests. Women were taken first, then the men.

Yesterday's action was organized last week by a number of activists including Fred Branfman. He is director of Project Air War, a military research group here that has been documenting what it describes as the social, agricultural and ecological destruction of Indochina by American bombers and the conversion of the war from a ground to air battle.

Preparations for the action —publicity, printing, bail money and substantial long distance telephone costs— were financed chiefly by the participants themselves.

Each person invited was asked to donate $100, organizers said. Many gave that amount, and some gave $200, organizers said.

Branfman said he and other staff workers made long distance calls throughout the country to invite the participants. Some were unable to come because of the short notice, he said.

The bulk of the group met Tuesday night and again early Wednesday to discuss tactics and other details of the Capitol scenario.

Many indicated they did not wish to commit civil disobedience and risk arrest for both practical and philosophical reasons. Others argued for arrest.

"The news media has made it look like the only people who ever get arrested in the antiwar movement are psychopaths, Communists and freak-out artists," said composer and musician David Amram, 41. "This is our chance to show that there are responsible people in this country concerned enough about the war to get arrested, too."

I have received your letter of November 16, 1976 that contained one document (a Washington Post article dated May 25, 1972) that pretained to me. You indicated that the CIA had ruled to delete a portion of the original document which would have disclosed intelligence methods used in obtaining this article.

I wish to appeal that decision since I believe the intelligence methods used in obtaining this document are as important as the contents of the document itself. By law the Central Intelligence Agency is prohibited from engaging in any domestic surveillance activities and I have reason to believe that my constitutional rights may have been violated by the CIA in obtaining this document.

Ninety-four persons, many of them well known scholars, artists and entertainers, were arrested in the Capitol yesterday when they refused to leave in both symbolic and physical protest against the Indochina war.

Capitol police began escorting the demonstrators out of a hallway near an entrance to the House floor around 5 p.m. after the House had adjourned for the day and that portion of the Capitol was officially closed. They were charged with unlawful entry.

The arrests came at the end of a carefully orchestrated exercise in antiwar street theater designed to show that prominent, middle-aged artists and professionals — not just college students and street freaks — are now willing to be arrested to dramatize their discontent with the war.

Among those arrested were folksinger Judy Collins, baby doctor Benjamin Spock, MIT professor Noam Chomsky, actor Howard DaSilva, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lifton, Yale psychiatry professor and his writer wife, painter Larry Rivers, antiwar activist Marcus Raskin, actress Barbara Harris, poet Kenneth Koch, fashion photographer Richard Avedon, columnist Judith Viorst, and columnist Gary Wills.

Others arrested include Leslie Dunbar, president of the Field Foundation; David Amram, composer; Felicia Bernstein, actress and wife of conductor Leonard Bernstein; John Steinbeck IV; Dr. George Wald, winner of a Nobel Prize in biochemistry; Joseph Papp, actor-producer; Tina Hobson, wife of Washington activist Julius Hobson; Carl Hess, former speechwriter for Barry Goldwater and Francine Gray, author.

Most of the protesters were being held on $500 bond last night. All 94 are to be arraigned today in Superior Court.

The action marked the second time in eight days that mass arrests for antiwar protests were made in the Capitol. Last Tuesday, 133 persons, organized by Clergy and Laity Concerned About Vietnam, were arrested in the Rotunda when they refused to leave.

Yesterday's protesters, organized by an ad hoc group called Redress, marched 150 strong to the Capitol at 2 p.m. and presented a petition to House Speaker Carl Albert (D-Okla.), asking the House to end the war by immediately cutting off military and economic appropriations to Indochina.

Albert spoke with the group briefly in the crowded corridor near the House floor entrance. He accepted the petition and said it would be referred to an "appropriate committee right away."

The group then waited in the corridor until 5 p.m., when Capitol Police Chief James M. Powell ordered them to leave. Ninety-four decided to remain. The others left then or had left earlier.

The group first assembled on the Capitol grounds at 1 p.m. and read its petition at a press conference.

"We petition the Congress to exercise its constitional authority of control over the armed forces by voting an immediate cessation of all air, ground and naval operations in Indochina," it said.

The group, led by Miss Collins and Lifton carrying a giant scroll with the petition inscribed on it, then marched slowly and silently to the east steps of the House where they were greeted by eight members of Congress.

"Your presence here today is an act of courage," said Rep. Donald W Riegle (R-Mich.). "I applaud you, I join you," shouted Rep. Ronald V. Dellums (D-Calif.).

The group then filed into the Capitol building to an entrance hall to the House floor. Albert, who had agreed by prearrangement to meet the group, came into the hall.

"Thank you very much. It's nice to see you" he told the group. When he said the petition would be sent to committee, Lifton asked that the House meet in emergency session immediately instead. Albert said only that the petition would reach committee "right away." He then returned to the House floor.

Twice during the afternoon, Rep. Bella Abzug (D-N.Y.) asked the House to recess for 15 minutes so that a member of the protest group could enter the floor and read the petition. She was overruled by Albert.

When the arrests began at 5 p.m., Rep. Wayne L. Hays (D-Ohio), chairman of the House Administration Committee, looked at the protesters standing and sitting in the crowded hallway and said to Chief Powell: "The House is adjourned and I want them all the hell out of here . . . I think you ought to get these . . . . . people out of here."

Powell continued directing the one-by-one arrests. Women were taken first, then the men.

Yesterday's action was organized last week by a number of activists including Fred Branfman. He is director of Project Air War, a military research group here that has been documenting what it describes as the social, agricultural and ecological destruction of Indochina by American bombers and the conversion of the war from a ground to air battle.

Preparations for the action —publicity, printing, bail money and substantial long distance telephone costs— were financed chiefly by the participants themselves.

Each person invited was asked to donate $100, organizers said. Many gave that amount, and some gave $200, organizers said.

Branfman said he and other staff workers made long distance calls throughout the country to invite the participants. Some were unable to come because of the short notice, he said.

The bulk of the group met Tuesday night and again early Wednesday to discuss tactics and other details of the Capitol scenario.

Many indicated they did not wish to commit civil disobedience and risk arrest for both practical and philosophical reasons. Others argued for arrest.

"The news media has made it look like the only people who ever get arrested in the antiwar movement are psychopaths, Communists and freak-out artists," said composer and musician David Amram, 41. "This is our chance to show that there are responsible people in this country concerned enough about the war to get arrested, too."

COUNCIL OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

WASHINGTON, D. C. 20004

December 1, 1976

Mr. Robert R. Davila, Ph.D.
Director
Kendall School for the Deaf
Gallaudet College
Washington, D.C. 20002

Dear Dr. Davila

Attached is a draft copy of the "Practice of Audiology and Speech Pathology Act" which Councilman Hobson plans to introduce in January 1977 as well as a draft background statement. As you may know this bill was introduced in April 1976, but the City Council was unable to consider it during the current legislative session and the bill must again be introduced as the Council begins its second legislative period.

We would appreciate any comments or suggestions that you may have for improving this legislation.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Paul Sanders Brown,
Executive Assistant to Councilman Julius W. Hobson
